What competition do you fear most? The competition from a store which advertises or the other kind.

Newspaper advertising—regular advertising—is a vital part of the sales effort of aggressive, optimistic firms.

For business enterprises in which such an advertising policy prevails, the outlook is always rosy.

Kemper-Denny

The marriage of Miss Nancy Kemper and Mr. Guy Denny took place at the home of the bride's uncle, Elijah Coons, near this city, Wednesday afternoon, November 24th at 3 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Clyde Darsie. On account of a recent death in the home only a few relatives witnessed the wedding. The bride wore her traveling suit of brown cloth with hat to match and her corsage bouquet was of Ward roses. After the wedding the happy couple left for Indianapolis, where the groom has a handsomely furnished home awaiting her. The many friends of Miss Kemper wish for her happiness and prosperity in her married life. Mr. Denny holds a responsible position in the Big Four railroad office of his home city and congratulations are extended him on winning one of Kentucky's fairest.

The survey in the Mt. Sterling schools will be conducted by the Department of Education of Kentucky, Wesleyan College and Prof. J. C. Lewis will head a committee of eight senior students who have been given intensive training in this work, received through the State Department of Education.

Marry in Lexington

The following from the Lexington Herald of Sunday gives an account of the marriage of Miss Carolyn Roseberry to James Metcalfe.

"The marriage of Miss Carolyn Roseberry and Mr. James Metcalfe, both of Paris, Ky., was solemnized in this city Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Benjamin F. Bush.

The bride's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Roseberry and Mrs. Oscar Hinton, of Paris, and Miss Erna Watson, member of the Hamilton College faculty, and one of the bride's most devoted friends, were the witnesses.

After the marriage the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to New York. They will be at home at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John H. Roseberry, which he has recently purchased in Paris, and which they have leased.

The bride is one of the belles of the Blue Grass country, admired for beauty, grace and unusual charm. She was graduated from Hamilton College and attended school in the East.

Mr. Metcalfe is assistant superintendent of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and his father, whose death occurred several years ago, held the position of general manager of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. The bridegroom was born in Louisville and is a graduate from Yale University and Boston School of Technology. He was in the world war service in France with the rank of captain of engineers.

The bride wore her traveling gown of brown cloth with pretty hat and her corsage bouquet was of ophelia roses and stevia. She is quite popular in Lexington and has been a frequent visitor here.

They were remembered with many handsome gifts and begin life together with brightest prospects.

Both are well known in this city and have many friends here who will learn with deep interest of the marriage.

"Adopting System"

One of the surest ways of saving your nerves and consequently your beauty is to adopt a system in the way you do things.

You will find it surprising the amount you can accomplish each day without feeling tired at the end of it, if you adopt this plan. So often you hear a woman exclaim "Oh, I haven't time." Sometimes the thing she hasn't time for is truly important, but she has to pass it up.

You will always find that she has leisure enough to stand around and gossip on any old subject at all. What are five or ten minutes to her? But if she took the trouble to add them up during the day she would be surprised at the total.

Take the fifteen minutes she spends in bed making up her mind to get up, the extra fifteen minutes of over-lengthy phone conversations. The half an hour perhaps an hour, spent fussing in front of the mirror, the quarter of an hour spent empty-handed while she is waiting for people, all the odds and ends of the day, due to a lack of system.

The cleverest woman I know, the one who accomplishes the most, always makes up a list of the things she wants to do the next day and places it on her open desk before retiring. She also has everything she needs laid aside so that there is no fumbling, no hesitation, no wasted thought or motion on the morrow.

Another woman who accomplishes a great deal in a very little time says that she has done more sewing in her odd moments than when she deliberately sat down to a long session of it. She is never without some kind of work which she can pick up, while waiting for a phone call or a visitor. If she is talking to an intimate friend she does not remain empty handed; she sews on hoks and eyes or turns up a seam or stitches one that's already basted. Then, of course, there is the overflowing mending basket. Take it all at once and it appalls you, but one piece at a time and it vanishes very quickly.

The subject of reading works out in the same way. Some people never have the time, others manage to keep abreast of the news and to get it through a number of the best books of the year.

I know a woman who always reads one good story or clever article immediately before going to sleep. She says it takes her thoughts from the difficulties of the day and puts her in a happier frame of mind than if she tried to go right to sleep the minute she went to bed. Another brings a book to the table with her when she is alone and in this way she eats slower, and enjoys her food, besides improving her mind.

System is what counts, from the woman who lays out her clothes the night before to save time the following morning, to the one who never goes down town without her shopping list and samples pinned to it, and the amount of goods marked clearly and measured off correctly, to save the clerk's time and her own.

And it is the same thing with the keeping of addresses and telephone lists, where they can always be found. They all save time. Also making up the menus for the days in advance, and planning out the work for the week so as to fill the space in between to advantage. Women who earn their livings are not the only ones who work on schedule time, there is many a home woman who could give them points, some ambitious little wife who wants to help her husband get ahead of the world by reducing expenses and at the same time gather around her an attractive circle of friends and keep her own mentality at par.

TO PHOTOGRAPH MARS FROM HUGE DIRIGIBLE

Professor David Todd, America's greatest astronomer, will endeavor to prove that life exists on the planet Mars by ascending as high as possible in a gigantic dirigible and taking photographs. By making a great ascent of, perhaps, many miles, two purposes will have been accomplished: rising out of the small particles of dust on the surface of the earth that are such a hindrance in photography and also by getting that much nearer the planet which will be closer to the earth in 1922 or 1924 than at any time for the next 500 years.

One can't help admiring the woman who whether in business or in the home, has the good sense and cleverness to adopt system and to have timeliness to adopt system and to HAVE TIME!

EDUCATIONAL TOOTH TALK—22 Satisfactory Plates

Anyone unfortunate enough to be obliged to use artificial teeth ought to have the very best set it is possible to secure. Many have found cause for complaint in their inability to keep their plates in place. This is due to a poor fit. The dentist may not be to blame, however, as one's mouth is constantly changing—only slightly, to be sure, but enough to "outgrow" the plate, so to speak. There is no remedy for this of course, but there is no excuse for a plate not fitting at the start and for many years to come if made by the improved methods in vogue in leading dental offices.—Dr. H. The Child's Birthright

(By Dr. Lyman Abbott)

The declaration of Independence declares that all men have an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. This is one of the inalienable rights of children—the right to a full, free and happy childhood. There is a familiar saying, "Be virtuous and you will be happy." It might with almost equal truth be said, "Be happy and you will be virtuous." Crime produces wretchedness, but wretchedness also produces crime. There was published some years ago a little book entitled "Reading Without Tears." It seems to me an outrage on children that reading ever should have involved tears. I think the spirit of the kindergarten may be expressed thus: Education should be growth; and growth should be natural. The plays of children can be so guided as to become themselves a means of education.

I hear the kindergarten criticized by persons who think that it supervises and directs all the children's activities and so takes from their initiative. This ought never to be true and I do not believe that under a true kindergarten teacher it is true. The mechanical spirit is fatal to all teaching. The teacher should be more than a drill master and she who is more anxious to exhibit a well drilled class than to secure the development of a natural and spontaneous life in the members of her class is no true kindergarten teacher. I am almost inclined to say that the kindergarten teacher, like the poet, is born, not made.

My faith in the kindergarten can be expressed in a sentence, thus: I believe in it because I believe that well guided play can be made educational and because I believe that every child has an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

CHILDREN MUST ATTEND SAY SCHOOL OFFICIALS

Attendance school officials, in order to enforce the school attendance compulsory act are serving notices on parents, a copy of one of which follows:

"Next week warrants will be issued for all parents whose children are reported as irregular in attendance at school, unless the children themselves are or have been sick. Your children have been so reported. A strict obedience to the law in the future will save you some trouble. Further lenience upon my part would be inexcusable.

"Hoping that you may see in this warning a sincere desire to save you trouble and money, I remain,

"T. A. HENDRICKS, Attendance Officer, Clark Co.

Children must have the advantage of free educational opportunities, and under the law parents will be held to strict account.

HIGH COURT TO PASS ON KANSAS CIGARETTE BAN

The Kansas Anti-Cigarette Law will be tested before the Supreme Court of the United States, attorneys announced when the State Supreme Court of Kansas allowed a writ of error, which permits an appeal to the Federal Court. Officers of Topeka have conducted raids, confiscating cigarette and prosecuting peddlers in various parts of the state.

If the law compelled every man to advertise his mistakes in a daily newspaper some of the efficiency experts would go broke paying for advertising space.

Give Orchard a Chance

The Extension Horticulturist of the College of Agriculture has been conducting demonstration orchards in various counties in the State of Kentucky. In practically every case it has been found that where good methods have been applied and good management given the orchard, profitably returns have been received. Mr. Joseph Polin, Springfield, Ky., had one of the demonstration orchards during the 1920 season. This orchard contained approximately an acre and part of the trees were not given treatment in order to demonstrate what treatment would do as a means of comparison. Mr. Polin was submitted the following figures to the extension horticulturist as representing his season's work.

The treated trees produced over 42 bushels of Number One fruit and some of these, apples, were sold during the summer and some were kept for winter use, and the price is estimated at the present figures, which makes the total value of the 42 bushels, $101. The cost of giving this orchard the necessary treatment such as pruning and spraying, was estimated at $20, making a net profit of over $80 on less than an acre. In speaking of this Mr. Polin stated the returns are much more than he had expected, taking into consideration the condition of the orchard; but he is convinced that by giving the orchard good treatment and care, which consists of fertilizing the ground, pruning and spraying the trees, that the orchard on the average farm in Kentucky, can be made to bring in handsome returns. At least it will more than pay its way, which will mean considerable to the people when it is possible for them to have all of the fruit that they want, besides some to sell in order to defray operating expenses. This orchard can be taken as fairly representation of the general orchard conditions of the state, and it will illustrate what can be done by good management.

Economy is a way of spending money without getting any fruit out of it.

Let's Go!

Now that the election is over and the excitement and uncertainty incident to it passed, it is time for us to once more take up the shovel, the trowel, the pen or whatever tool is necessary to our work and commence where we left off.

The reconstruction period has been with us for nearly two years and little has been accomplished toward stabilizing business. We must work—Work—WORK.

We must put more work into every hour and more hours into every day to serve as an example to other workmen and the remainder of the world.

Let us do our utmost to make progress and increase production. We must work with not only our muscles and brains, but put our hearts into the task to speeding up the world on the road to permanent prosperity.

The world needs more of everything. It looks toward us to produce.

Production alone will cut down the cost of living. Production means work, an honest day's work for the farmer, the laborer, the mechanic, the carpenter, the printer, the office man, the stenographer, the office boy.

The price of prosperity is work. The price of contentment is work. Good, faithful service for good pay is the salvation of America and of the world.

We are away behind on production. Prices are soaring. The old law of supply and demand always works. It is grinding away. Increase the supply by work and prices will come within reach.

We have had entirely too much labor agitation and shilly-shally, parley, delay, linger, wait and hope, while the world starves.

The American workmen have been blind to the cause of the high cost of living and have been endeavoring, too long, to boost themselves up by Every disturbance, every hour of lay-off, costs them more than their higher wages.

Order Garden Seed Early, Mr. Farmer

Now is the time to begin with gardens, says expert gardeners.

First see that the garden spot is made fresh with an abundance of nourishable fertilizer, adapted to the crops to be raised. Then so cultivate the ground that this soil food may be properly taken in. This done the seed proposition comes next. A noted seed man advertises "seeds that grow." This quotation is suggestive that there are seeds that will not grow and the gardener with experience will readily verify this statement. The reliable, up-to-date seed man destroys all old seed and gives to the trade only fresh seed, grown from healthy plants. See that such seeds are secured.

Should information relative to the farm or garden as a business be needed an experimental knowledge would be gladly given from the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMENTS

If you want to "stand in" with your banker, be sure and come to the C. of C. luncheon Thursday noon. If you are not there they will likely "call your hand" the next time you want a loan. Mr. J. O. Greene is chairman of the committee with W. L. Kilpatrick, Joe Conner and B. Frank Perry assisting him, so you know it will be a snappy meeting. We are to be favored with five-minute talks by these gentlemen on the most important banking problems and conditions.

—C-of-C—

Attorney R. H. Winn has been employed by the Chamber of Commerce to further investigate, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, the exorbitant freight rates into Mt. Sterling. We may not get the desired results and justice, but we'll wager that when he is through with the case the Public will know that Mt. Sterling has some Chamber of Commerce.

—C-of-C—

Thursday, December 2nd is Banker's Day at the luncheon-meeting. Here is a chance for you to show your appreciation of that overdraft, that little loan, that "help, aid and assistance" they so often render by being "among those present." We anticipate quite a crowd and it goes without saying that we shall hear some interesting talks.

—C-of-C—

A warning card, showing the advantages of grading tobacco before it is brought to the warehouse, is being prepared by the Chamber of Commerce. These will be tacked up in the warehouses and prominently displayed, we hope, by our merchants in their stores, calling the attention of each tobacco grower who comes in to it as we feel confident that the observance of the suggestions offered will get a better grading and, consequently, a better price.

—C-of-C—

Be sure and come to the luncheon Thursday and get your program for the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce. It is a neat little folder and well worth saving. The busiest and most prominent men in the town are going to have charge of these meetings. Surely you can at least come. Encourage these men by showing them that "you are with them."

—C-of-C—

An Open Letter to Policeman Stockdale: Dear Rufe—Please hurry and get well and back on duty. The public have already forgotten, seemingly, that there ever was a parking ordinance. Yours truly, A. SUFFERIN' PUBLIC.

—C-of-C—

It is with pride that we point to our clean streets. They were given a thorough washing Tuesday. We believe in giving credit when due, to those responsible for such improved conditions. It RAINED. Let us pray.

Richmond Suffers $185,000 Fire Loss

Fire, supposed to have been of incendiary origin, did more than $185,000 damage to the Soaper Planing Mills and Lumber Company plant and the general store of D. E. Belue Friday morning. Three other establishments suffered slightly.

The fire was within a block of the main section of the city which was threatened with destruction for a time.

The belief that someone who has a mania for burning buildings is operating in Richmond has been caused by the fact that there have been numerous fires here recently of mysterious origin.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

I took lunch at one of our cafeterias today and paid 35 cents for a rabbit's hind leg. It was good and after paying 35 cents for one leg a whole rabbit for 50 cents seemed like a bargain. So I went to a meat market and paid 50 cents for a whole rabbit and took it home and what a supper we did have!

How it does recall my rabbit hunting days down in the Red Hills and broom sage fields around Cairo, in dear old Henderson county. Well do I remember one cold morning when, as a boy, I was sent to the back of the old farm to find a sow that had a young family in her snow-covered broom sage house. The snow was deep and rabbits could not run in it. I had a dog and tobacco stick and I sure did have a good time. When I got back to the house about noon I had ten rabbits, every one killed with my tobacco stick.

I had had the fun, but my mother never liked to cook a rabbit. She said they seemed like cats to her, and so after exhibiting them I gave them to a negro—just think, gave away what would today in Louisville cost five dollars raw, and if cooked and served at a cafeteria, around $12.

No wonder we think of the good old days—Courier-Journal.

When you consider all the exercise she gets from jumping at conclusions you wonder how a woman ever gets fat.

Strenuous Job Awaits Mrs. Warren Harding

Mrs. Warren G. Harding must get ready to run the most widely known residence in the United States, as the thirty-fifth mistress of the White House.

To the average American housewife it would seem very easy to make a real home with such helps from Uncle Sam as a $75,000 salary, a 40-room house, rent free, a 10-acre park, automobiles and many other requisites, says the Washington Post.

Yet such is the fierce light that beats upon public life, such the demands of her position, that only a woman genius can make and has made the White House a home. For the last few administrations the home element has been uppermost. The Roosevelts, from the President to the baby Quentin, loved the White House, and it was home to them in every sense of the word. The Tafts, too, had a family of young people and the home spirit was kept intact for them.

The present administration likewise, has fostered the home spirit and beyond doubt both the President and Mrs. Wilson will miss the atmosphere of home that the genius of the woman has built up in the White House, even in the midst of the war distractions and illness.

In late years a housekeeper, Mrs. Jaffrey, who has been at the White House since Mrs. Taft was there, is in direct charge of all the housekeeping details, although the White House ladies supervise and check and direct the machinery of the household, as every good housewife should. Mrs. Jaffrey does all the marketing for the household and controls all the ordinary domestic expenditures, paying for everything and submitting her accounts for a final audit to the President's wife.

Three White House cooks, a chief cook and two assistants rule over the kitchens, which are modern in type and fitted up with every reasonable variety of labor and time-saving device. In the pantry is an electric dumb waiter and an electric plate warmer. This instrument, on occasion, has heated as many as five thousand plates at official functions. The silver is all cleaned by electric machinery.

No caterers get up state dinners in the White House. Everything is prepared by the house cooks. This even extends to the ices, and that is probably one reason why the White House tables of refreshments at formal functions are always so popular.

Unlike most nations, there is no entertainment fund, as such, for the American President. He pays out of

PROTECT YOUR TREES
Farmers of Kentucky are urged not to forget the young fruit trees and protect them from rabbits and other rodents that may gnaw the bark during the winter season. There are several means of protecting the trees from this injury. A small piece of wire netting can be fastened around the tree so that it will be impossible for a rabbit to peel them, corn stalks or tobacco stalks can be tied around the tree, which will also serve as a means of protection. The tobacco stalks are preferable because they also furnish a fertilizing feed for the trees.

Big Task Suggested to Jews of America

To populate Palestine speedily with a prepondering body of self-supporting Jews, who will develop into a homogenous people, ultimately becoming a self-supporting commonwealth, is the problem to be dealt with by the annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America, which began in Buffalo, the 25th.

Practically the whole of this task must be carried out by the Jews of this country, agents of that organization say. They assert that the war and its aftermath has almost completely impoverished European Jewry, and the depreciation of their money in such countries as Russia, Poland, Austria and Rumania has compressed the remaining wealth to an almost irreducible minimum.

The above statement has gone out from New York and is of much interest to all American Jews.

Carey Says Wife Was Even Too
Weak to Take Care of Herself
Before Taking Tanlac

"Yes, sir, Tanlac built my wife right up after everything else failed, and made a new woman of her," said Martin J. Carey, living at 913 Shehy street, Youngstown, Ohio, recently. "She had been in wretched health two years before she began taking Tanlac, and had gone down hill till she couldn't do her housework, nor even care for the children. Much of the time I'd have to get our meals and get the children ready for school before I started to work, and go away and leave her in bed, too sick to even take care of herself.

"Her stomach and liver were in an awful bad fix; the poison got all through her system and she suffered all the time. Nothing we did for her seemed to do her any good, and she kept going from bad to worse, and getting weaker all the time. She was terribly nervous and slept only a little while at a time and I had to be up with her all hours of the night.

"She scarcely had any appetite, and what little she did eat didn't agree with her. After eating she would have most distressing pains in her stomach and these would last her hours at a time. It hurt me to see her suffer and not be able to help her.

"When it seemed she would never take a turn to get well we read a Tanlac testimonial that fit her case almost exactly, and I lost no time in buying her a bottle. She had not taken half the first bottle till I saw it was helping her, and I don't know which one of us was the happiest.

"She kept right on getting better, and by the time she had taken four bottles she had gained nine pounds, and was a well woman. Now she does all her work, does the cooking and looks after the children just as she did before she got sick and never has an ache nor a pain.

"I honestly believe Tanlac is the best medicine made, and I never let an opportunity slip to speak a good word for it."

Tanlac is sold in Mt. Sterling by Land & Priest.

Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have hearing down, pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui... that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person.

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me... My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments. For sale everywhere. E. 33

In German Universities

One curious effect of the war in Germany has been the stimulus it has apparently given to higher education. Before the war twenty-three German universities had an attendance of 55,000; those same universities are operating today with full faculties and with 85,000 students in attendance. Eleven technical institutions have an enrollment exactly double that of 1913. The only course that shows a marked increase in attendance is that of Protestant theology. Roman Catholic theology is not taught in the German universities, but we are told that the theological schools of that denomination are poorly attended, and several of them in Catholic Bavaria have been temporarily closed.

One conclusion from this may be that religion in Germany is at rather a low point. The government is in charge of Socialists, and most of the German Socialists are free-thinkers. The German church did not make a creditable record during the war. Its pastors, with very few exceptions, accepted the absurd Divine Right of the Hohenzollerns theory, and even went to the extent of exalting the Hohenzollerns above the Deity.—Evening Post.

U. S. JUDGE PUTS BAN ON PICKETS OF STRIKERS

At St. Louis Federal Judge Paris granted a permanent injunction restraining the United Leather Workers' International Union from picketing or interfering with business of a local trunk manufactory where 1,000 employees are on strike. Simultaneously he issued a temporary order against the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America prohibiting interference with the business of several local clothing concerns where strikes are in effect.

We men are never right. First we are touchy, when our feelings are easily hurt; then we are wooden and thick skinned when it takes a great deal to make us angry.

While we are not bragging about our a-tha-letic figure, we sure would hate to have legs as long as those on the young man in the clothing advertisements.

When you call the other fellow a knocker you become one yourself. Just keep on sawing wood.

Pepto-Mangan Makes Rich Red Blood and Lifts You Out of Bad-Health Ruts

There are days when you feel downright sick. You think you could not feel any worse. Yet, as far as you know there's nothing the matter with you. From the time you get up in the morning till you go to bed at night you are tired. You feel as though you'd like to sit down and do nothing. You look tired and pale and haggard. You get careless about your dress.

No wonder! Your blood is clogged up with poison. Your power of resistance is at a low ebb. Your blood needs food. It needs the help that the vitalizing tonic, Pepto-Mangan, will give it. Instead of feeling exhausted and tired out for months, you will soon pick right up and feel well and strong again. And with good red blood you are able to fight off ailments.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. It is prepared in both liquid and tablet form, and you can take one or the other and receive the same benefits.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's". Ask for it by the full name and be sure the full name "Gode's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package.—Advertisement.
